DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “a generally straight lumen” must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6, 34 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wall et al. (US Patent 6,746,450) in view of Burton (US Patent 4,743,260). Wall et al. disclose a monolithic spinal fixation device comprising a spinal stabilization member (body 22), and a first and second anchoring members (14) that extend from the stabilization member (14) and also both extend perpendicularly from the stabilization member and are parallel to each other. See also Figure 6. The device and anchoring members form a monolithic device that is capable of insertion in to the vertebrae to aid in spinal fixation. Wall et al. also disclose a spinal fixation device that has anchoring members with a generally straight lumen extending axially therethrough (46, and Fig. 4). This lumen is capable of promoting ingrowth of bone when fixed to the target area.

Wall et al. disclose the claimed invention except for a porous device. Burton discloses the claimed device that has pores that may be made from biocompatible materials that are porous and aid in the acceptance and incorporation of natural bone (Col. 4, lines 45-52). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the device of Wall et al. having at least a porous structure in view of Burton to better incorporate the device into the bone over time during regrowth.

Claims 31-32 and 35-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wall et al. in view of Burton (US Patent 4,743,260). The combination of Wall et al. and Burton disclose the claimed invention except for the pores having a certain range of sizes, for example, 190 and 1,200 microns. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have pores of that size, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6, 31-32, and 34-37 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
